A Record of Undying

Knowing the feel of Liberty, worthy and strong,
Willing and free;
Making their choice with a smile and a bit of a song;
Marching, sailing, or flying suiting them well
So they might slay the Devil and ruin Hell
Upon land and sea.

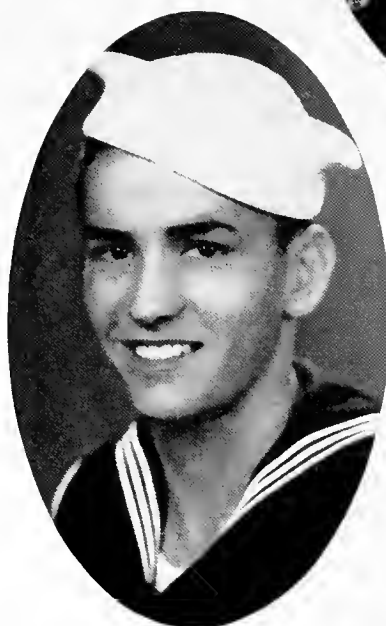

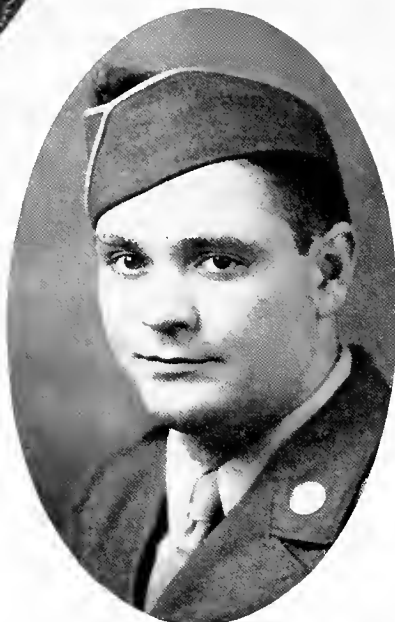

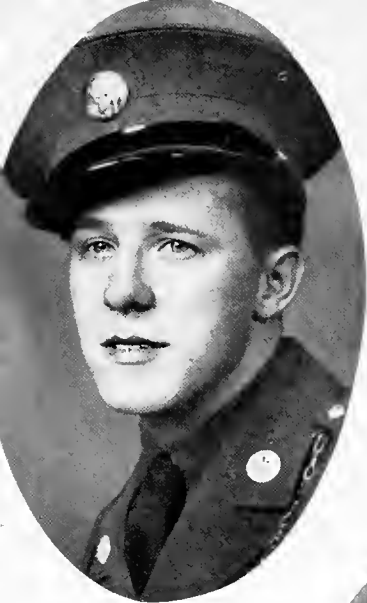

—J. E. Middleton

Fame

the captive nations,
Stars in heaven no hurricane shall put out!

. . . and Imperishable

Blow Taps for him at twilight's brooding hour,
Weep tears for youth and courage and the dearness
Of small remembered gestures, quirks of mind
That made him what he was.

WE BROKE OUR RECORD

We exceeded our 1944 sales over $1,000. Our total sales were $3,584.75. Out of 392 students enrolled, 303 sold magazines. Four home rooms, 16, 14, 12, 11, had 100 per cent sales force. They enjoyed one quarter of a peach pie plus three scoops of ice cream.

Mountie and Oscar circulated to indicate sales. Mountie paid a special tribute to room 14 and to A. Busse with $151.50 of sales. Straw Oscar's favorite abode was room 4.

The 18 highest salesmen were: Busse, Hamilton, Ventrueella, Beck, Carsten, Smith, Lammiman, Giffin, Engleman, Cronier, Meid, Gutmann, Suter, Bolyard, Kapp, Buchanan, Gilpin, Baker.

Mr. Eickhoff was generalissimo. His chief typist was Helen Mutton. His assistant home room secretaries were: Henry, 16; Feuchter, 14; Meid, 15; Stout, 12; Baker, 11; Smith, 9; Mauller, 6; Castle, 5; Hoover, 4.

Final home room standings:

At the table: Rosalie Watkins, Marilyn Miller, Helen Mutton, Sonia Ross, Miss Edwards, Alfred Meyer.

WE TRANSCRIBE OUR RECORD

Shorthand is only one of the activities of the commercial department. Twenty-seven students take shorthand I, 8 girls shorthand II, 50 typing I, 28 typing II, and 41 take bookkeeping.

Last year outstanding proficiency awards were given to Dorothy Ritter for shorthand, to Helen Mutton and to Joan Johnson for typing. Typing awards for 30, 40, 50, 51, 52, etc., words per minute are published monthly on the board in room 17.

Marilyn Miller presides over the 70 commerce students who make up the Commercial Club. Sonia Ross is vice-president; Rosalie Watkins is secretary; Alfred Meyer is treasurer. Miss Edwards is the sponsor.

On January 17, the club put aside thoughts of exams, ten minute speed tests, etc., and heard Miss Irene Meyers of the General Electric Company speak on the value of commercial subjects in the business world.

The club's tour of the Lincoln Life gave them glimpses of the proper office procedure and also glimpses of the life of Lincoln.

The Commercial Club saved its social activities until the second semester. For the George Washington party, on February 16, Al Busse was entertainment chairman. R. Gutmann, J. Coleman, B. Hanke, D. Ritter, assisted him. The time and place was decided upon by I. M. Houghton, P. Adams, C. Schlemmer, J. List, and E. Stoller. Decorations were made by M. Beeler, L. Mutton, D. Sutorius, J. Waldrop, and N. Kennedy. D. Prince, P. Kummer, B. Bird, M. Kumfer, and I. Castle planned and served the refreshments.

A spring banquet honoring the new officers and the various award winners wound up this year's record of the Commercial Club.

Sitting: Webster Walker, Virginia Meyer, Sonia Ross.
 Standing: Mr. Young, Dick Logan, Max Fields, Bob Rietdorf, Nora Maier, Miss Wimmer.

PHI CHEM POPS UP WITH A RECORD

An atomic explosion hit the Phi-Chem Club! With the guidance of their sponsors, Miss Wimmer and Mr. Young, they went places and did things. Breaking their record for the first time in three years, the club traveled to Indianapolis to attend a meeting of the Junior Academy of Science. Exhibits and demonstrations were presented by science clubs from all over the state. The Phi-Chem members prepared exhibits on glass fiber and rubber from the chemistry department and a diagram on atomic energy from the physics class. Chic Giffin was elected president of the Junior Academy of Science for the coming year, and Miss Wimmer was elected to a five-year term on the Senior Advisory Council.

The next tour was to the Fort Wayne Filtration Plant. One of the chief engineers explained the process of filtration.

The officers of the club for the year were: Bob Rietdorf, Pres.; Webster Walker, Vice-Pres.; Sonia Ross, Secy.; Virginia Meyer, Treas.

The officers, with the consent of the sponsors, appointed the committees for the year. D. Logan was chosen chairman for social activities; D. Ritter, P. White, and M. Parsons were chosen to assist him. The program chairman was N. Maier, aided by L. Feuchter, D. Fields, and B. Anderson. Those on the exhibit committee were M. Fields, J. List, M. Goss, G. Justus, D. Lunz, B. Ploughe, and S. Slater.

At the Christmas dance held December 15, a large decorated tree and a snow scene on the stage carried out the yuletide theme.

The second semester provided an activity for almost every month. Two sets of movies on physics and chemistry were presented. Mr. Claude M. Summers, a speaker from the G. E., addressed the club on a current topic. Another social activity and a trip to a local factory wound up the program for '46.

Up: Patty Ferguson, Eleanor Feuchter, Miss Simon.
Down: Eleanor Stoller, Deloris James, Ortheda Brunson.

HOME EC CLUB REPORTS POINTS

Records? Oh, yes, we quit sewing and chatting long enough to keep records. You see we can win an E if we have 360 points. We earn 10 points for attending each business and each social meeting, 15 points for attending the banquet and 15 more for bringing our mothers, 10 for paying dues (5 points for paying in advance), 10 for enrolling a new member, 30 for taking home ec a full year, 5 for punctuality and 5 for bringing visitors. Energetic members may earn additional points: 25 for selling tickets, 30 for being on committees, 1 per period for putting announcements on the board and 1 point per period for cafeteria work. An officer gets 50 points for doing his duty for a year. The E is awarded after we have been a member for two years. The first E's will be given in 1946.

Although it is not necessary to take home ec to be a club member, the club draws most of its 65 members from the home ec classes. Fifteen girls study home management, decoration, income planning, furnishings, and family relations. The twenty-five girls in home ec I study clothing the first semester and cooking the second.

This year Patty Ferguson holds the record for being a four year club member and will receive a silver thimble. Miss Simon supervises this club. Eleanor Stoller is chief executive; Deloris James assists her; Ortheda Brunson keeps books and checks our finances. Eleanor Feuchter is our student adviser.

We held our annual skate at Bell's on November 10. This event did not set a record for our treasury. On December 7, we let Saint Nick entertain the members and their guests. Dancing was the main feature. We also sent Christmas stockinettes to veterans' hospitals.

We closed our season by holding a spring banquet honoring the new officers and the alumnæ members.

RED CROSS CLUB GOES ON RECORD

The Red Crossers go on record for having the largest club membership in the school—325 members, the first and largest social event of the semester, plus the most service to the school and community.

Miss Wimmer directed the activities of the Red Cross Club. Alvin Busse was next big chief; Bob Baker was third big chief. Scotty Parkison recorded the members and the collections.

In the gym, colorfully decorated with vines, pennants and footballs, the all-membership party and dance was held October 12. A novel stage show of skits and songs was planned and conducted by Emcee Dick Logan. Refreshments added to the club's record for the biggest and best party.

The home room agents made announcements and took collections. These helpful members were: M. Beeler, 16; L. Feuchter, 14; S. Parkison, 15; E. Stoller, 12; A. Smithson, 11; D. Goss, 5; K. Wood, 4; H. Stout, 6; and W. Paxson, 9.

Chief J. A. Peppas stationed two monitors at the two front entrances each period. Their duty was to guide visitors to the office. A messenger for each period was stationed at the office door. These faithful workers were: Messengers: V. Blake, A. Smithson, E. Stoller, M. Stout, D. Sutorius, J. Peppas, B. Felger, and W. Hoepfner. Monitors: B. Anderson, K. Cronier, M. Fields, S. Emrick, A. B. Henry, G. Houser, P. Ferguson, J. Johnson, D. Lunz, N. Tipton, B. Truelove, and B. Smithson. The substitutes were: M. Smith, D. Beerman, D. James, D. Dowden, D. DePue, J. Hardisty, J. Raidy, and F. Suter.

The club's goal for the National Junior Red Cross Membership Drive was $3.82 or one cent per student. The receipts were $22; $4 paid our dues; $18 was sent to the Foreign War Fund. The Anti-Tuberculosis League collection was $29.83.

Up: Marilyn Parkison, Marilyn Miller, Nadine Parker, Delores Cox, Deloris James.
Down: Kathryn Cronier, Miss Bobilya, Faith Carbaugh, Beverly Drake, Margaret Beeler, Jacque Green.

SONGSTERS ROLL UP RECORD

Do, re-me thinks it's time to take a gander at the record rolled up by our Glee Club. First of all, they gave a new and surprisingly different kind of party. N. Parker and J. Green dubbed the affair the Corn Cob Shuffle. They set out on a whirlwind publicity campaign with lively posters urging all members and their guests to come to the shuffle "clad in gingham and plaid." A. Smithson's committee carried out the rural theme with bales of straw, picket fences, horses' heads and collars. Little lanterns hanging from the side walls lighted the barn. V. Grepke was in charge of the dancing and the skits. Mrs. Meggison called and Miss Bobilya accompanied on the piano. M. Miller and her committee served doughnuts, apples and cokes. It seems there was a cider shortage.

The songsters met five periods per week on the stage. Every Wednesday they sang popular tunes like "Dearest Darling," "Dream," "Till The End of Time." The last Wednesday of every month they entertained themselves with musical skits, duets, solos, musical poems, and lives of composers.

B. Drake, F. Carbaugh, M. Henry, and M. Parkison, sang at Trinity English Lutheran Church. With the money they earned, they bought for the club an album of records of "Rhapsody In Blue" and copies of "Smoke Gets in Your Eyes."

Helping to roll up the record were M. Beeler, president; D. Cox, vice-president; M. Miller, secretary; M. Parkison, treasurer; D. James and K. Cronier, librarians; F. Carbaugh and B. Drake, accompanists. Miss Bobilya, director and sponsor, has successfully developed the 35 voices of the club into one melodic whale. (Pardon us, not whale but whole.)

For the second semester activity the club held an all-school dance. They also spent many periods rehearsing for the baccalaureate services.

Standing: Bill Langmeyer, Mr. Young, Ruth Gutmann, Juanita Coleman, Dale Prince, Miss Spore, Bill Hanke, Chic Giffin, Marlyn McNamara.
Sitting: Jim Henning, Alfred Meyer, Ielene Leonard, Dorothy Ritter, Milo Eiche.

THE ADVANCE FILES ITS REPORT

To create a school spirit that will last throughout the life of the school, to foster good citizenship among the student body, to work constantly for the welfare of the school, and to give helpful publicity and general information . . . this is the editorial policy of the Advance Staff.

"E" is for Elmhurst and for Excellence in Advance news and features too. 1946 marks the fifteenth year of publication for the Advance. Since it was first published in 1931, the Advance has stood for consistently higher standards in high school journalism. Today the paper is a member of the Indiana High School Press Association and numerous times has placed first in the International Quill and Scroll Critical Survey for Journalistic Achievement.

Despite severe labor and material shortages, the fifty-seven staff members with the aid of sponsors, Miss Spore and Mr. Young, have done a splendid job of covering and publicizing all school and club activities. Again this year, as in three previous years, the Advance was sent to all Elmhurst Alumni in the armed forces.

In May staff members and their guests attended the annual Advance banquet, where letters and Quill and Scroll pins were awarded to those who had done outstanding work.

The main staff of the 1945-46 Advance was:

Business Staff: Business Manager—Marlyn McNamara; Advertising Manager—Milo Eiche; Circulation Manager—Bill Langmeyer; Military Circulation Manager—Bill Hanke.

Standing: Ortheda Brunson, Viviann Grepke, Ielene Leonard, Margaret Beeler, Helen Nash, Dick Logan, Helen Mutton, Al Busse, Eloise Coleman, Virginia Meyer, Sonia Ross, Alice Geake, Joan Houser.
Sitting: Joan Johnson, Ila M. Houghton, Juanita Coleman, Luba J. McKeeman, Martha Wood, Deloris James, Nora Maier, Martha Manes, Lavon Mutton.

SENIOR PLAYERS MAKE RECORD RUN

Comes time to introduce the Senior Players—i. e. the dramatics class. Thumbs in vest, we modestly admit that Elmhurst offers the only 5-day-a-week dramatics course in Allen County. Hurrah! This group made its debut on the Elmhurst scene only this year and already has won the plaudits of the student body for their presentation of plays and skits.

Mr. Sellers, sponsor, does not confine himself to teaching just the fine points of dramatics; he attempts to instruct his proteges in the fundamentals of theater costuming, make-up, lighting, and set design.

The Players' first endeavor was a comedy-mystery titled "The Swamp." The plot, full of ghosts, murders, and surprises, plus real acting ability, and a combination of weird sound and lighting effects kept the audience in fearful suspense. The cast included A. Busse, J. Coleman, I. Houghton, J. Houser, I. Leonard, D. Logan, and B. Shearer.

Early in the new year, the class presented a series of blackout skits. An ensemble from the band provided bridge music.

No account of the Players' activities would be complete without mention of the senior play. This year's selection, a comedy "mellow-drammer" by Paul Loomis, was produced with period costumes and settings. It was entitled "Pure As the Driven Snow" or "A Working Girl's Secret." Any synopsis of the plot would probably read: "the tale of a persecuted heroine, chaste and chased, wherein virtue triumphs over villainy." Out-size programs, mistimed sound effects, and between-curtain acts in a gay-nineties tempo added to the hilarity. A. Busse and D. Logan, the only regular masculine members of the class, were hardly sufficient to fill the five male roles in the play; therefore, B. Langmeyer, B. Shearer, and D. Lunz were conscripted to fill the gaps.

Top Row: Nelia Bentley, Charles Foltz, Charles Jones, Bob Fisher, Martha Wood, Kathleen Wood.
 Third Row: Roy Cox, Jane Emrick, Martha Manes, Ortheda Brunson, Bob Rietdorf, Orton Gilpin.
 Fourth Row: Willis Bunyan, Carol Wilson, Alfred Gallmeier, Patty Adams, Donald Sheets.
 Fifth Row: John Clayton, Dave Overby, Bill Augsburg, Darrell Dowden, Gail Conner, Mr. Doell.

OUR BAND AIMS AT HIGH RECORD

Our record? First, let's introduce the man who constantly aims to improve our technique.

Mr. Doell's second year as director of the Elmhurst band has shown us that his persistent efforts get results. Perhaps those oft-repeated, "Get on the ball!" "Snap out of it!" "What's the matter with you people?" helped to keep us in harmony. Since he has been director, Mr. Doell has set up tests that the band members must pass before they receive their uniforms. He has arranged a new point system for earning letters. Under his leadership, the band membership has increased from twenty-four to forty members. His extensive program of music appreciation and of song flute playing in the three grade schools has led to more interest in band. By the time these pupils reach the fifth grade, they are ready for training on an instrument that is well suited to them. These grade school band members form the nucleus from which the high school band later draws its members.

In addition to Mr. Doell, the Trojan Band has other leaders. Bob Roehm, a senior, is our president. Dick Fields, a senior, is his stand-in. Carol Wilson, a junior, is our secretary-treasurer. Who's the guy in the high hat? That's Jim Henning, another senior, our drum major and student director. Margie Kumfer, Rosalie Watkins, and Iolene Castle are our high-struttin' twirlers. Jo Ann Watkins, Wilma Hoepfner and Julia Waldrop are the flag bearers. Turn to pages 64 and 65 to see the pictures of these girls.

Marching is one of our important activities. Did we ever get military drill from Mr. (I mean, "General") Fryback and Mr. Doell! Oh, yea, Roger, the white dog, barked at us too. Our hours of marching drill were rewarded by our participation in the largest parade in the history of Fort Wayne—the Armistice Day Parade, November 11. Yes, sir, we were right in there marching and playing. Our red and gray uniforms added color to the drizzly Sunday.

Basketball put us into the public eye more than ever. Accompanying the yell leaders, playing the pep songs, playing novelty numbers, and exhibiting the grace and skill of our twirlers and flag bearers helped to focus attention on our band and school. "We Want A Basket" and "When We Meet Them, We Will Greet Them" made everyone rhythm conscious and basket happy all season long.

When contest time comes, in the spring, Mr. Doell and the band hope to make solo and ensemble entries. This will be the first time in three years that the band as a unit has entered these contests. We want to return with top honors and recognition.

You can readily see that the aim of our band is to develop a sincere appreciation of good music within the student body and to surpass the records set by all previous Elmhurst bands. Come on, the 1945-46 band!

SENIOR REVIEW

When we were sophomores we won:
the scrap paper drive
the magazine sales campaign
the War Bond and Stamp Drive.

When we were juniors:
the girls won the girls' class tourney room 11 won the magazine sales we had an outstanding prom we won the scrap drive again.

SENIOR REVIEW

We seniors

in Room 14 won the magazine sales campaign sold 50 more Anlibrums than any other class published the biggest Anlibrum so far sold more Anlibrum ads, too.

E = ELMHURST AND EXCELLENCE

Points, hours, drill, practice, games, songs, concerts, inches of copy, meetings, sports, yell leading, managing, carrying messages! Was it worth it? You bet, for that coveted E was the result. Mr. Eickhoff is chief adviser of the E Club. Giffin heads this year's galaxy of E's. Roehm assists him. Johnson keeps the records. That scene of color, rivalry and enthusiasm—the class tourney—is managed by the E. Club. Their chief social event is the spring dance for all E's now in school and for all alumni members and their guests.

ANNIE'S PERSONNEL RECORD

"Come in and close the door!" You are now in 18, where a slightly screwy gang of seniors dreamed up this Annie. If you waded through the stacks of proofs and copy on the floor, you may start a conversation with a staff member, who is probably draped over a table or a chair. You'll talk about everything except Annie. "Everyone's grouching about that sociology test." "Have you read . . . ?" "Did you hear . . . ?" Now you know why Miss Falls called these lightheaded individuals her "flutterbugs." In this den, amid the clack and rattle of typewriters, budding geniuses brought forth their brain-children (among whom the mortality rate was appalling). To make 18 a more congenial place to work, they scraped the chairs over the floor, had trouble with the radiator, and gawked at the endless parade of freshman first-aiders using the pencil sharpener. Now we introduce our workers:

Miss Falls, our patient adviser; S. Ross and D. Logan, co-editors; J. List, B. Langmeyer, S. Ross, R. Gutmann, H. Mutton, D. Logan, picture editors who popped their heads in the door and called you to the gym; L. Feuchter, L. J. McKeeman, B. Langmeyer, P. Ferguson, hard-working senior editors; R. Gutmann, J. Coleman, J. List, M. Parkison, club editors who had their copy cut; L. Mutton, N. Maier, M. Wood, M. Miller, underclass editors; A. Busse and J. Hardisty, boys' sports editors; M. Beeler, H. Mutton, I. Leonard, J. Johnson, hurried, harried, and much abused typists; D. Ritter, D. Prince, and Miss Edwards kept track of subscriptions; M. McNamara, B. Hanke, N. Tipton, M. Goss, D. Prince, ad staff, the go-out-and-get-'em boys.

HATS OFF TO MR. HAYES

It is hard for me to talk about my record during my two terms of office because any record and all improvements that may have occurred were only possible because the citizens of Wayne Township wanted these improvements made.

In 1940 five and one half acres were added to the Elmhurst campus. I hope that 1946 will see the beginning of an addition to Elmhurst and of a new gym.

It has been my pleasure to assist the classes of 1943 and 1946 in their plans for their Anlibrums.

I want to compliment the graduating class of 1946. They have made a fine record against pretty tough odds. The record of Elmhurst High School, faculty and students, during the last seven years is second to none. Their sports record has been average. The scholastic standing has been way above the average. The record of the Alumni from Elmhurst High School during this war has been outstanding. I do not believe that there is any high school in Indiana that has had a larger percentage of their Alumni in the armed forces than Elmhurst High School has. Many have given their lives so that schools such as the Wayne Township Schools could continue. It is our duty to see that their efforts were not in vain for when the Great Scorer comes, he does not care whether you won or lost, it is just how you played the game.
